THE DAILY CITIZEN. TO-MORROW THEY COME. FACTS AND COMMENTS.

KEMMLER is one of the bardest subjects to execute with which American law has ever had to deal. THE American Engle screeches with dispust. Firecrackers are scarce and July 4th is approaching.

Two Boston divines preached about Ionah and the whale last Sunday, and on Monday two dead whales were washed up on Lynn beach by the sad sea waves. Coincidences are sometimes

FOLLOWING New York, a powerful anti-hanging movement has been started in New Hampshire. The New York Sun argues that capital punishment is so nearly abolished any way in practice, that the statutes which provide for it

It worns be an interesting task for people interested in figures to calculate the number of absent minded people in the United States from the data furmshed by the postoffice. There were received at the dead letter office last year 17,000 letters with no superscription whatever, while 400,000 were improperly ad

A RELIGIOUS journal argues that elever ours is a scriptural day's work, from the parable of the laborer in the vine vard who came in at the eleventh hom and received a full day's pay. Our Puritan grandsires must have gone sadly wrong on Scripture obedience, then when they worked their poor laborers fourteen hours a day.

Trus is terrible news. The world's rop of firecrackers is short this year and the demand from Mexico and South America is heavier than ever before Dealers are talking about 20 cents a ounch for small firecrackers. Thus does the heathen Chinee get square with young America for making his laundry

MATRIMONY does not yet appeal to Lotta. Asked if she were still enjoying single blessedness, the independent little netress recently said: "Yes, thank beaven! It is all that I can do to man age myself with the aid of my mother and I can see no reason why I should un lertake the management of a husband, or accept a husband to let him manage ne. I am satisfied with my present con nition, and expect to continue in it."

It is said that an English syndicate has bought a thousand acres of phos phate lands in Marion county, Florida There is always a place to draw the line and here it is. When it comes to actual ownership of land in this republic by subjects of monarchical governments it ought not to be permitted to any extent. A United States law to this effect strictly enforced, would only be such a protective measure as other nations have already adopted.

ASHEVILLE is to be congratulated that it possesses laboring men who are so generous as not to force their demands with a strike. While the wires are telling of labor troubles all over the world the city moves along in the even tenor of its way. Asheville laboring men believe in moderation. That the hours consti tuting a day's work will be lessened is admitted by both employers and employes but here the change will be gradu-

So solidly is labor organized that even the fishermen along the Pacific coast have formed a protective union. What is more, in the free and independent climate of the slope, they enforce its edicts with the gently persuasive shotgun. There was a fight lately between the eatchers of union and non-union fish near Portland, Oregon, in which one man was killed on the spot, another mortally wounded and a third seriously wounded. The two men were thus sent out of the world because they sold a fish for seventy-five cents instead of for a dollar and

THERE is considerable of a study in the strike which is now taking place all over the civilized world in the way of compar isons. In Europe the army is in readiness to crush the mob, and the police are reported as charging on the parading housands. In this country all is peace and quietness. The militia, much less the police, is not thought of, and the business of the country is undisturbed. The forms of government are, of course, responsible for the different conditions. There the authorities are afraid. Here there is nothing to fear.

Was has been declared between California and Florida. A California newspaper boasts that it is published in the only climate on earth which produces strawberries and oysters at the same time. Indignation ran riot in Florida as soon as this claim becomes known. Georgia has taken up the cudgel in bepaper of Macondeclares that "in Florida few miles below Macon the ruby strawberry grows up to the edge of the water ver-hanging boughs of the orange the golden fruit drops right into the gaping shell of the luscious mollusk." This is but another illustration of the wonderful but another illustration of the wonderful variety of soil and climate of our great country. Where on earth is there another country where the products of the tropies fill the markets with the same profusion as those of the temperate zone? Massachusetts may boast of the oranges and figs of Florida and California, and the Gulf State may pride itself upon the greening and the russet of the Berkshire hills, for we are one, great united nation.

ommissioners to the general as embly will commence to arrive to-mor row. Rev. Dr. Wilson, stated clerk, will be among the first arrivals, as the arduous duties of his office require prompt ness. The vestry of the church has been reserved as a private office for him. The ommissioners of enrollment will meet in the lecture-room on Wednesday night and the formal opening of the assembly will take place on Thursday morning with divine worship, sermon by the Rev. Dr. Hill, retiring Moderator. The assembly will be constituted with prayer, the roll will be called and the new Moderator and temporary clerks will be elected. This will probably complete the business

The social features will probably occupy the rest of the day. The ladies of the hurch will give an afternoon tea to the visiting ladies, wives and daughters of the commissioners and others, of whom a large number will be present. The event of the day, however, will be the reception tendered to the commis ioners at Battery Park in the evening About an hour of social intercourse will be spent in the music hall and at half past nine the company of about 300 guests will sit down to the supper which Colonel Steele will provide. After the support is over the speaking will begin and the assembly will be formally welcomed to the State by the Governor, Daniel G. Fowle; to the Presbytery of Mecklenburg, by the Rev. Mr. Wharton to the city of Asheville, by T. H. Cobb. Esq., and to the First Presbyterian church, by S. F. Venable, Esq. The responses will be made by the leading orators, both in the ministry and eldership

Tickets can be had for $3 by applying within the next two days to C. E. Graham, W. W. West, or Geo. S. Powell, Invitations have been extended to the eading ministe's and elders throughout the country. Mr. John H. Inman, of New York, expressed some time ago his purpose to be present if he could. Rev. Dr. Brud, of Chicago, favorably known in Asheville, is also invited. Hon. Wm. L. Wilson, of West Virginia; Governor
